Rugby Times

Every Thursday evening a determined combination of year 10 and 11 students join Mr Adams under the flood lights for a fun but relentless rugby training session. The boys have been coming every week and Mr Adams is pleased to say the numbers are continually increasing. Training consists of a variety of passing, tackling, rucking, mauling and scrumming skills. The boys' enthusiasm about rugby is amazing to see; they come to these sessions with the right attitude which is to work hard, improve and succeed.

Mr Adams is currently in the process of organising some matches with local schools as he feels that the boys are more than ready. Keep up the good work boys!
